I. Basic requirements & procedures

Requirements

The basic requirements to be eligible for participation in the merit reward program are as follows.

- You must have achieved full membership status in the 116th Panzergrenadier Division.
- You must be a registered user of the units' forums (<http://www.windhund.biz/>).
- You must take part in unit organized OPs and in general support unit based efforts on the battlefield.
- You must have signed up for the award system and have been added to the database for processing.

Nominations may be made for any medal and/or credits toward credit based awards if the following criteria are met.

- Mission takes place during any Squad OP (as per commanding officers discretion).
- Mission roster contains at least 3 unit members (Land) or 2 (Air/Sea).
- Missions not meeting the above criteria can on occasion, if the benefit to the war effort and/or unit is deemed substantial, be allowed at the discretion of a Reichstag member.

To be eligible for an award (badge or medal type) all criteria for it must be met and a valid sortie (as per above) must last a set amount of time for half or full credit. The current standards are:

- 3 minutes for a mission to count towards credit, less than this and it isn't considered (kill based awards ignore timeframes and always give full credit).
- 3-10 minutes for a half credit (adding up towards the daily limit)
- 10 minutes and above earns a full credit.

The daily limit is 2 credits per badge type award with permission for an additional credits based on nominations for extraordinary work and effort. For kill type awards there is no limit on the credits earnable per day.

For awards of the patch type nominations are based on the trainer/mission leaders discretion and it will be issued as soon as the basic criteria for it is met (passing a set training course or taking part in a designated action). Anyone taking part in these courses and/or designated missions will receive the named award.

Award types

Awards are divided into three general types with different rule-sets and uses, each type corresponding to a set grade (rising from patches set as low, through badges set as medium to medals set as high grade awards). The types and specifics for them are as follows:

- Patches

Patches generally only comes in one grade and have graphics to simulate a cloth patch. These awards can be awarded en masse and are at the discretion of the trainer or mission leader. Common uses for patch type awards are for completion of set training course or participation in designated missions and battles.

Mission based patches are to be called for by the mission leader in the AAR for his mission and all participants in that specific mission are then automatically nominated and seconded for that specific patch.

For training patches the trainer calls the class and upon successfully finishing it he lists the participants who will receive their training completion patch.

- Badges

Badges are the main type of awards and is based on credits earned over time by members. Any member who is signed up for the award system have their combat data (CRS) collected and stored in a database from which (after sortie validation procedures) their credits are extracted and stored, after reaching each threshold for a new badge it is automatically issued. As stated previously 1 additional credit per day can be issued by nomination towards any badge per day over the normal daily limit of 2.

Badges generally comes in 3 progressive grades and have graphics simulating the metal award they are based upon.

- Medals

Medals are the highest grade of awards issued and may or may not come in progressive grades. These awards are for heroics and exemplary effort on and off the battlefield and requires nomination and seconding to pass. For any medal a nomination needs to be made in field (TS/chat) or attached to appropriate AAR and then seconded by two persons (same) to pass and become valid. Any member can make a nomination but seconding is reserved for members above normal soldier/veteran (ML, Reichstag, CO, XO, NCO etc).

NOTE: Awards section not yet up to date with new rules.

Procedures

The nominating and award issue procedure is a 3 step procedure that can take no more than 21 days total. The progression of events after a mission is as follows:

- A AAR must be posted within 7 days of the mission occurring
- Any nominations based on this mission must be made within 7 days of the AAR being posted and should preferably be attached to the specific AAR post in the forums for reference.
- Seconding of any nominations must be made within 7 days of the nomination being made, any nominated awards that fail to get 2 seconds within this timeframe are void.

For any nomination it is understood that the nominator should know the rules of the award program and be familiar with the awards available.

Presentation

Each award is presented to the recipient as two graphic images in the form of URLs, one for the medal and one for the ribbon. In addition to this they are also presented with a certificate (also via URL) containing their name, award, date, citation as well as a serial number for the award. This document is their proof of ownership for the award.

II. Rules of display

General

Ribbons are available for each award issued and these can be shown in unit members' .sig as well as other places that person sees fit. The unit member may use the image of any ribbon he have officially been awarded, but must follow some rules as to their display. Frivolous use of non-awarded ribbons is frowned upon and disciplinary measures may be taken against the offending member.

Ribbon positioning

The general rule for placing ribbons on a ribbon bar or rack is that the highest in value ribbon should be placed leftmost and in case of multi-row bars left and topmost. When placing ribbons that allow more than one instance to be shown they should be placed together with the highest grade placed leftmost in the group, in general though no more than one copy of any award should be placed on the bar or rack.

OKW awarded ribbons should be placed to the left (and top) of unit awarded ribbons to distinguish that members effort towards the greater good of the axis side. High grade awards earned may take precedence though at that members' discretion. Mission and campaign ribbons for won campaigns are to be worn to the right and bottom of the bar.

Grades

With some exceptions (noted in individual awards description) no more than one copy of any given award may be placed on your rack/bar, no matter how many times it's been awarded. In case of earning additional higher grades of the same award only the highest grade currently held is to be used for that particular award.

Medals

The recipient is free to use the awarded medal images as they see fit in posts or on private web pages as long as they can prove ownership of displayed award. The imagery of the ribbons and medals may not however be graphically edited or modified in any way and their use should be linked to the hosting website and not moved for remote hosting.
